

Quanta Networks & Hundo P Technology Partnership Announcement

For Immediate Release

June 22nd, 2020

Quanta Networks, a Canadian-based Telecom company and Hundo P, a SuperApp developed by founder Darryl Mack, are announcing their joint technology partnership.

Two disruptors in the industry, both companies are looking to change the landscape in the technology sector.

Quanta Networks will seek to provide both technology infrastructure and equity funding for the technology firm. The Hundo P SuperApp has enlisted celebrity partners to elevate awareness of the Hundo P brand. Hundo P will draw on the celebrity's audience to create brand awareness for the Hundo P ecosystem.

Hundo P's SuperApp will be the premiere built-in app featured on Quanta Networks' Emergency Mobile Phone. The Emergency Mobile Phone will provide a cost-effective solution to both families and businesses. Quanta's "tower-free" technology does not rely on cell towers thus ensuring around the clock service whether it's a remote/rural location or during an unforeseen crisis. The Emergency Mobile Phone ensures mobile connectivity which will provide parents peace of mind when trying to reach their children and elderly parents/relatives. It will also serve as a business continuity solution for businesses during a crisis and/or emergency.

Quanta Networks along with Hundo P are not creating the roadmap, they are the roadmap. Quanta Networks' virtually un-hackable identity security and next-generation digital currency solutions will power Hundo P's SuperApp, VR, and online gaming experience to the next level of technological greatness.

Humberto Varela, CEO, Quanta Networks:

"Quanta and Hundo P teaming up is un-precedented. We are two disruptive technology companies coming together to create an e-commerce, social media and entertainment "end game". Hundo P's next-generation user environment underpinned by Quanta's bulletproof mobile and currency technologies are an unbeatable combination."
